

JUDGE ADAMSON IS GOING TO BE MUM

But Don't Blame Copy Butchers, Judge, We Gotta Gash When We're Told.

"Judge" Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, which is one of the really big committees of the House, is going to be a newspaper interview for a while. He has been recently outlined his views on the Mexican situation as it exists as compared with the Cuban situation as it existed in 1907 and 1908. The general purport of his remarks was to the effect that war might have been averted with Spain if the United States had been along certain lines duly enumerated by the Georgian.

The newspaper man who obtained the interview did his best to quote the judge correctly and Mr. Adamson believes he did so. This is just a part of the story.

In a scolding chair that evening, Congressman Adamson noticed a headline that he, the judge, had certain views on the Mexican situation. The judge scolded back to read his favorite author.

Starts All Right.

The story started all right, the general premise being that there was such a person as Judge Adamson, that he held certain views on how the Cuban crisis should have been met, that he had just expressed those views about the pending trouble. There the true narrative stopped, according to the story told by the Georgian member.

It develops that some "bonhead," either through want of space, sense of appreciation, or through an overabundance of knowledge, changed the judge's interview all around after the faithful newspaper writer had faithfully set down on a cold typewriter the burning thoughts expressed by the Georgian, who generally knows what he is talking about, and a sentence was left out here and there; the punctuation was muddled up, giving even the printed words a new meaning, and there was a general lack of speaking acquaintance between the interview and its surroundings.

To top off this most distressing condition of affairs, according to the judge, the paper printed the interview and then printed an answer, which answered something Mr. Adamson hadn't said.

That the Copy Desk.

Judge Adamson doesn't know much about the inside of a newspaper office, but he has an abiding faith in the fellow who wrote the interview. From what he has heard, he has less faith in what his newspaper friends call "the copy desk," the clearing house which has something to do with fitting so much type into so much space.

In any event, Judge Adamson says he is through giving interviews, which have to be slashed around to suit anything he didn't say or mean. He's going to take a rest at his home in Georgia until there is some assurance that his words will not become twisted on the long journey from the judge's office to the type machine, and then into the newspaper form. Especially will Judge Adamson be wary of newspapers which are willing to print answers answering something he didn't say.

All this Mr. Adamson says in confidence and regret to anyone willing to carry out all part of the bargain in correctly quoting Mr. Adamson as a ticklish subject.

Cutters Will Patrol Yacht Race Courses

As a result from its arduous labor of the last few weeks, and before preparing for its strenuous winter work the revenue cutter Morrell was assigned by the Treasury Department to patrol the course of the regatta of the Buffalo Yacht Club, at Buffalo, today and tomorrow. A cutter from the New York district has been assigned to patrol the course of the Middle States Regatta at New York tomorrow.

Officers of the cutter Morrell believe they have earned the rest by the hard work in a storm on Lake Erie, when the disabled boat, the Morrell, with a number of persons aboard, was rescued as it was drifting out in the lake. A wrecked hydroplane and its operator, W. H. Blacklock, of St. Louis, also were rescued.

The cutters were being ordered to the docks to be repaired in preparation for the work of going to the aid of vessels in distress during the winter months. The Morrell is at the repair depot at Arundel Cove, Md.; the Mohawk will arrive there this week, the Yamacraw is in dry dock at the Charleston, S. C., navy yard, and the Apache is to go to Norfolk navy yard this week for general overhauling and repairs.

"Municipal Spoonery" Is Open in Denver

DENVER, Sept. 2.—The first "municipal spoonery" in the country is open for business today. That is the name the youth of the city have already given to the Neighborhood House established by the city park board in connection with the municipal playgrounds at Elyria, a Denver suburb. Hereafter, under municipal regulations, young lovers may bill and coo to their heart's content.

Each week during the winter the Elyria Tassepore Improvement Association will give a dance for the benefit of the young men of the neighborhood and to further the good cause. Each week the Neighborhood Mothers Club will transform the Neighborhood House into a Cupid's bower for the edification of the young folk.

UNCLE SAM HUNTS TWO GOOD COOKS

They Must Be Able to Cook Beans in a Way to Please Minnesota Indians.

Uncle Sam wants a cook—two cooks, in fact. He can't solve the servant problem any better than the president of the Thursday Afternoon Whist Club, it seems. At any rate, he has put his ad. in the paper for two competent cooks to proceed immediately to White Earth, which is in Minnesota.

There seems to be a dearth of talent in the "ham-and" line in and around White Earth, an Indian reservation. Or it may be that Lo, the pool Indian, is tired of Mrs. Potched-Kegon-Hash's efforts to please his jule palate. Anyway, a change of diet seems to be considered necessary by the powers that be.

Cook service examinations for these important posts will be held October 4. The advance bulletin issued by the government does not specify whether or not a complete knowledge of proteins, carbohydrates and other strange articles set to inhibit our nourishment is necessary. Neither do they require an intimate knowledge of dietetics, in case the hoped beans are forthcoming promptly and the breakfast is at least first class removed from an art kitchen broom.

Only competent artists need apply. The Red Man is dying out rapidly enough without the Great American Boucherie. The Red Man is dying out rapidly enough without the Great American Boucherie. The Red Man is dying out rapidly enough without the Great American Boucherie.

French Aviator Loops The Loop Second Time

JUVISY, France, Sept. 2.—Aviator Pagoud repeated this afternoon the astonishing daredevil feat of looping the loop in a monoplane. This time his exhibition was for the benefit of a commission of army officers belonging to the aviation corps, and again Pagoud flew for an eighth of a mile, with his machine turned turtle, his head hanging down. As on the first occasion, Pagoud ascended about 3,000 feet, and then pointed his monoplane straight to earth, darting down like a hawk. With his engine going full speed, he dropped to an altitude of 1,300 feet, and then started a sudden upward course. The machine turned over and flew upside down for a few seconds, when Pagoud righted the plane and landed. He was warmly congratulated by the army men.
